A WARM WELCOME TO THE HTA NATIONAL PLANT SHOW 2024!

Plants are at the very heart of our industry and of gardening! Consequently, if you sell, buy or use plants in any way shape or form, the National Plant Show [NPS] is the place to be at this time of the year. There is simply no other trade show with as many growers of British plants under one roof!

This, our 13th NPS, is bigger than ever with over 150 exhibitors. Of course, you will find all the major growers exhibiting here but many of the smaller and often specialised growers here too. All will be keen to show you their latest range or newest plants.

New plants feature very strongly at NPS with over 100 new plants entered last year. Do make time to look at those entered this year and in all their various categories. We encourage you to cast your vote and choose which ones you think will be winners on your benches in the years ahead. This feedback is helpful to growers and especially valuable where there is a long lead time to producing a saleable plant.

NPS now features an even wider range of plants than mainstream hardy plants. Look out for suppliers of bulbs, indoor plants, bedding plants, Christmas trees, seeds, vegetable plants and more. In recent years we have seen a steady increase of exhibitors of essential products and services that support growers and retailers alike. Do take time to see what they have to offer this year.

I hope that you'll take time to sit in on the stimulating seminar sessions that we will be running throughout the day. These sessions are a great chance to get up to speed with the latest topics or issues we face. I'm sure that you will be keen to network and share thoughts on the past season but also how things might be in the seasons ahead. The HTA village is a great place to go and meet a member of the team and find out more about membership.

Thank you for taking the time to visit and support the HTA National Plant Show 2024.

Alan Down
HTA President

WHAT'S ON?

For many years, The National Plant Show has impressed with representatives of British suppliers from across the spectrum including seeds, bulbs and bedding plants through to houseplants, perennials, trees and everything in between.

Following the success of the 2023 event, we will again see a mixture of the New Plant Awards, and all exhibitors in Hall 1 and 2.

The HTA Village is the hub of all things HTA and provides an opportunity to find out about the latest initiatives and meet the experts in the HTA team. It showcases everything the HTA has to offer, including Membership, the latest updates in Policy, Market Information, Sustainability as well as National Garden Gift Cards. Do pop by for a coffee and say hello!

NEW PLANT AWARDS

sponsored by

The New Plant Awards are the beating heart of the National Plant Show and are a prestigious recognition of excellence in the horticultural industry. Since the beginning of the show the awards have grown in prestige and are now the place to find the next best-selling plant for garden centres.

These awards are given to the most innovative and exceptional plant varieties that have been introduced to the market within the last year. The purpose of these awards is to showcase the outstanding qualities of these plants, such as their unique features, outstanding performance, and exceptional beauty. The New Plant Awards also serve as an important platform for plant breeders, growers, and marketers to introduce their latest creations to the industry and to the public.

The New Plant Area, which hosts the Awards, is always bursting with ideas for new plants. In 2023, there were over 125 plants entered across 4 categories and it proved to be a valuable source of inspiration for visitors. This year we have introduced new awards to accommodate all the amazing plants at this year's HTA National Plant Show. The categories are:

- Herbaceous Perennials
- Annuals, Bedding and Container & Basket Plants
- Flowering Houseplants
- Foliage Houseplants
- Cacti & Succulents
- Trees
- Shrubs (including Conifers) & Climbers

supported by

POLICY

The HTA's Policy and Public Affairs Team ensures the voice of Members is represented across the UK's parliaments to Ministers, MPs, Lords and Officials. HTA Members are kept up-to-date with the latest news and briefings impacting the industry. This includes regular webinars, workshops, visits and documents to support members to navigate regulation and other issues.

We have welcomed Ministers and politicians at Member businesses, providing insight and experience directly to decision-makers. This has proven particularly impactful, alongside hosting parliamentary events which our members have supported. Furthermore, we have built relationships with our international partners including in the Netherlands, Germany and Ireland. Working together on issues such as border imports has been beneficial to highlight the challenges and uncertainty we are facing.

Other issues we continue to work on is peat and the future of the industry transitioning to peat-free, we have extensively lobbied Defra for support on this complex journey for our growers and manufacturers. Not to mention a level playing field on imports. Additionally, the cost of doing business, joined up departmental working, workforce and apprenticeships, and the link between horticulture and health are just some of the big issues we have been working on with members and politicians.

From a media perspective the HTA has enjoyed significant coverage over the last 12 months, including on the front page of the Financial Times around the border trade issue – our recognition factor continues to grow.

We cannot successfully continue our work without the support of our members and very much appreciate members hosting visits, supporting our events and speaking to the media.
